

Factsheet

Social Development Centre SUS

Social Development Centre SUS is an independent non-profit and non-governmental organization. We solve issues in relation to socially vulnerable people – nationally and internationally.

Established in 1992 SUS today employs more than 25 people co-operating with a wide range of public, private and voluntary organisations.

Aim and purpose

Our aim is to contribute to the improvement of the quality of life for marginalised people. Some of the areas we deal with are:

- Social work in relation to people with mental health problems
- Housing issues
- The inclusive labour market
- Prevention of violence and bullying at the workplace
- Life conditions for people with disabilities
- Children of parents with mental disease
- Voluntary social work

SUS uses games and playing as methods in the projects - here to show the importance of having a policy of non-bullying at workplaces

Partners and areas of competence

We work with development projects, method development, documentation, evaluation, research, dissemination and establishment of networks across sectors and professional boundaries.

Our list of references consists of partners from commercial businesses, governmental ministries and public governing bodies, local and regional authorities as well as unions and international organisations.

- We offer inspiration, recommendations and guidance in connection with social changing and developing processes.
- We develop methods to create renewal and promote the quality of life for the target group.
- We facilitate changing processes based on the requirements and wishes of the users
- We collate and disseminate knowledge and give feedback on measures taken for the target group
- We support development within organisations to improve the skills of employees
- We develop professionalism and respect surrounding the work with the target group.

DVDs, publications, magazines, web

SUS is creating a lot of materials as part of the projects and as documentation.
